MISSING BOY, BELIEVED LOST AT SEA, RETURNS HOME IN HIS TWELVE-FOOT DINGHY

Percy Webb, Absent for Three Days, Pulled Into Pedder Bay With Engine Trouble and Delayed Return Because of Bentinck Island Tide-rip

Percy Webb, missing for three days and leaving a distracted mother mourning for a boy she believed lost at sea, returned to his home at Foul Bay in his little twelve-foot dinghy this morning. Since Saturday afternoon Webb remained at Pedder Bay, on the Pacific Ocean side of William Head, about fifteen miles from his home. He explained his omission for not having telephoned to his mother or to the police as to his whereabouts by the fact that a telephone was not near at hand.

COMMENCE SEARCH

Rumor that the young fisherman was safe first reached Victoria this morning when Harry Speed brought his launch into this port from Pedder Bay and reported that a boy, known to him as "Billy," had been at Pedder Bay for the past three days. "Billy," said Speed, had arrived there late Saturday. He had remained over Sunday and Monday, and was, as far as he knew, still at the bay.

Informing of this fact, Provincial police immediately commenced an investigation. The with an engine of missing boy, Percy Webb, tallied with that given them by Speed. Webb was sometimes known as "Billy."

Constable Meadows, of the B.C. Police, left Victoria at 9:30 o'clock this morning for Pedder Bay on a motorcycle. Racing over the country at breakneck speed, he reached Pedder Bay after only about thirty minutes of travel. He accomplished the journey in record time, for in his mind was a vision of an anxious mother awaiting news of her missing son.

DESCRIPTION TALLIED

Reporting from Pedder Bay, the constable stated that Webb was not there, but that he had learned that a boy answering to the description of the missing youth had been in that vicinity and had departed after three days' stay there for his home in Victoria. He was aboard a little boat, equipped with an Evinrude engine, painted with green trimmings, with a green star on the bow. This description of the boat exactly tallied with the one given by the constable yesterday by Mrs. Webb. Although Constable Meadows followed along the shore line in the hope of catching sight of Webb, he did not try to land. His sole object was far out of reach. The officer could not even see him.

At noon Mrs. Webb, who had been besieged by telephone calls during the morning asking for news of her boy, told The Times that her son had arrived home.

HAD ENGINE TROUBLE

Webb said he had headed for Pedder Bay on Saturday and had eventually reached it in the late afternoon. He had experienced engine trouble there, he said, and had not been able to fix his machinery until Sunday. Not knowing the locality he believed he was far from any telephone. Therefore he did not try to get word to his mother or to any of the authorities.

A three-hour run from Pedder Bay brought him back to Victoria this morning, just before noon. He had not attempted to make the trip Monday on account of bad weather, for he had no wish to encounter further trouble and leave himself at the mercy of the Bentinck Island tide rip in which seven longshoremen lost their lives when the tug Hope capsized had sank alongside the stranded steamship Eemdyk.

Alfred Webb, a younger brother, spent all Sunday in a daisy looking for his brother. He was certain that he had landed somewhere and that he was safe. There was no reason to fear he kept re-examining his mother, and it was his hope and courage under trying circumstances, when everyone else believed his brother irrevocably lost, that kept him from abandoning hope. Mrs. Webb spent Sunday and Monday nights in the depths of despair. She had given up all hope, she admitted today.

HUNTING FOR MAN
Emil Naise Accused of Killing Mrs. Hannah Anderson at Cherrill Yesterday

Edmonton, July 20.—Poses of police and citizens, assisted by bloodhounds, are searching the woods around Cherrill, fifty miles northwest of here, for Emil Naise, wanted on a charge of having murdered Mrs. Hannah Anderson yesterday.

Mrs. Anderson had left her store to go to her barn, a hundred feet away, when she was shot down at close range with a heavy calibre rifle. Before she died the woman made a statement in which she accused Naise.

MOBS RIOT IN CITY OF NAGANO, JAPAN

100 Persons Injured During Outbreaks; Big Crowds Threaten Authorities

Tokyo, July 20.—Dispatches to vernacular newspapers here from Nagano say mobs continue to trouble the authorities there, following riots which occurred yesterday. Virtually all the police stations are surrounded by the mobs and the police are unable to make arrests.

The Government fears to use troops, but heavy reinforcements of police are en route to Nagano and after their arrival it is expected numerous arrests of the mob leaders will be made.

Approximately 100 persons were injured yesterday when crowds attacked officials. The trouble was caused by the Government's re-trenchment policy, which includes abolition of seventeen police stations in the Nagano prefecture. Nagano is a city of 40,000 population.

The city of Nagano is 110 miles northwest of Tokyo, a short distance inland from the Sea of Japan.

FIRE FIGHTERS WIN AFTER LONG BATTLE

Series of Forest Outbreaks in Kootenay Park, B.C., Now Being Put Out

Calgary, July 20.—A special dispatch to The Calgary Herald from Banff says:

Two weeks from the day on which the first forest fire started northwest of Kootenay Crossing, B.C., found the situation greatly improved and led Kootenay National Park officials to be hopeful of a complete victory.

No more rain has fallen, but the weather is cooler and more humidity has lessened the fire hazard.

From the information available this morning, it was evident the fire-fighters had conquered the flames on both the northern and southern fronts and were busy putting out the many smoldering spots fires that were started during the big blaze.

HIGHWAY LOSS
It is now apparent the fire affected approximately fifteen miles of the Banff-Windermere Highway, although the timber has not been

MACKENZIE KING TO ADDRESS B.C. COAST MEETINGS LATE IN AUGUST

Ottawa, July 20.—Tuesday, September 14, is said to be the date fixed for the Federal general election. The official announcement will not be made until Premier Meighen speaks here to-night at a mass meeting which will open his coast-to-coast campaign, but it is known the earliest possible date has been chosen.

The British Columbia meetings of the coast-to-coast tour of Right Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader, probably will be held between the middle and end of August. This was indicated today when an outline of Mr. King's plans was given.

Mr. King is at his summer home near here for a few days engaged in the preparation of the opening speech of his campaign, to be delivered in Ottawa Friday night.

ONTARIO CAMPAIGN

The ex-Premier intends to leave Ottawa during the coming week-end for a campaign in Western Ontario. The points at which meetings will be held probably will be announced later this week.

After several days in Ontario Mr. King will go West to Manitoba, where a series of meetings is being arranged.

The Western tour of the Liberal leader probably will take him through to British Columbia, with meetings in Saskatchewan, and Alberta during the middle of August.

It would appear now as though the British Columbia campaign will be brief but crowded. Mr. King will then probably turn East and hold two or three meetings in Quebec before spending the latter part of his campaign in the Maritime Provinces.

The Quebec meetings will be in Montreal, Quebec City and one other point at least, probably Sherbrooke.

Rumors regarding Mr. King's acceptance of a nomination either in North York or Prince Albert, cannot be confirmed for a few days at least. It is unlikely Mr. King will announce before Thursday where he intends to stand for election.

Premier Meighen will present his platform to the electors to-night. On the occasion of the Conservative convention in Ottawa, he will address a mass meeting to-night and deliver the keynote speech of his campaign.

TO STATE POLLING DATE
Mr. Meighen will announce to-night the date of the general election. It is not known yet whether he is prepared to reveal also whether he will join his Cabinet from Quebec Province in addition to the Quebec members already sworn in. He has indicated that two portfolios have been reserved for additional representation from that province, and many predictions have been made as to who will get them, but nothing definite is known. It is quite possible the announcement on this will be made when Mr. Meighen returns next week from the East.

PATENAIDE TO SPEAK
There is a prospect of about 10,000 people assembling to hear the Conservative leader and his lieutenants (Concluded on page 9)

CITY LAND SALES CONTINUE UPWARD CLIMB THIS WEEK

Sum of $20,000 Brought by Sales of Downtown Property in Two Days

Bank Borrowings Lightest in City's History, Says City Treasurer

Continuing a rapid increase shown in the weekly returns for sales by the City Lands Department the lands committee will report to the City Council Monday night the sale of $20,000 worth of reverted property in the first two days of this week. This figure is expected to reach the $25,000 mark before the end of the week.

The chief sales included in the total are four in number, covering the transfer of close-in property on Fort and Yates Streets at prices ranging from $4,000 to $6,000.

CITY IN FINE SHAPE
Fresh reasons for optimism in the position of the city is given today by City Treasurer Edwin C. Smith, who reports bank borrowings as the lowest in the history of the city for a great many years. The city has borrowed $30,000 last month as its first advance from the bank to meet debt service falling due for payment. This sum still represents the entire borrowings of the corporation on this year's account. Last year at this date $272,900 had been borrowed from the bank, and in the year before twice that sum.

Ratepayers of the city are reaping the benefit, having advanced approximately $400,000 in the prepayment of taxes in part or in full to date. On this they will draw interest sums at six per cent, amounting to some $118,000 which will act as a natural reduction on tax accounts.

DEBT REDUCTION
The city is retiring its capital debt at the rate of $250,000 a year, says Mr. Smith, as well as meeting its sinking fund and interest requirements. Of the first refunding loan improvement loan the city had borrowed $150,000, which will act as a natural reduction on tax accounts.

The second local improvement refunding loan the city has paid off $50,000 to date, and this week will complete payment to a total of $125,000 on that account. The second payment was on July 19, when $15,000 worth of bonds were presented and paid out of current revenue. The city could at this time liquidate the bank loan of $40,000 but prefers to hold the money for the settlement of the second installment on the refunding loan.

Never before in the annals of the city, it is believed, has such a condition prevailed, where all sinking funds are being kept up and the capital debt under retirement at the rate of a quarter million annually. Despite rigorous pruning at the first of the year the city will end with a handsome surplus, it is predicted.

Speculators in Vienna Profit On French Franc

Vienna, July 20.—Speculators here are reported to have made a huge killing on the slump of the French franc. Their gains since Saturday are estimated at 12,000,000. Many prominent operators who were almost ruined in 1924 when the franc was saved by the Morgan loan, are said to have more than recouped themselves.

The city's share is $36,051, while Esquimaux will receive $2,300, Oak Bay $5,147 and Saanich $12,648. Altogether the Government is distributing $496,302 to the municipalities according to their school attendance during the last year.

The largest amount, of course, goes to Vancouver city, which receives $121,800. The amounts due to the municipalities around Vancouver bring the total for the district up to something over $250,000.

The complete distribution was given out today as follows: City of Alberni, $98,927; City of Armstrong, $1,941.78; City of Chilliwack, $2,497.76; City of Courtenay, $1,891.01; City of Cranbrook, (Concluded on page 13)

Cash Was Taken By Robbers From St. Peter's, Rome

Rome, July 20.—Vatican authorities report $30,000 lire in cash was stolen from the administrative office of St. Peter's Cathedral. Bags containing several hundred thousand lire were left untouched.

The police authorities believe the theft was the work of some employees, and are conducting an investigation along this line.

St. Peter's was the scene of a robbery of many valuable objects about a year ago.

$16,000 ROBBERY IN ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Mo., July 20.—Five or six robbers today shot and wounded Sandy Morgan, negro manager of the City Trust Company, when he resisted a holdup, and escaped in an automobile with $16,000. The robbery was carried at a busy corner in the wholesale district.

He saw numerous hot springs in the valley, which was covered with vegetation and ferns, and it was swarming with moose and bear.

Strangest of all, he cleared up the mystery of a trapper's death. When he landed in the mysterious valley he found a note pinned to a cabin door by a man named Smith, which stated he had been living there for years.

The trapper told in his note of the wonders of the place and said he had left and was going down the Liard River in a canoe. Later the daughter turned up at Fort Simpson alone. She verified this and said her father had been drowned while trying to go down an extremely bad piece of "white water."

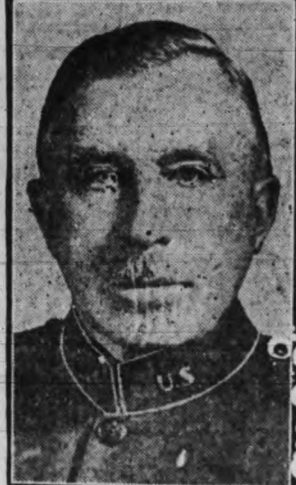

Edmonton, July 20.—Landing in a strange valley in northern British Columbia, Colin S. Caldwell, who is operating a big 450-horsepower amphibian aeroplane for a mining syndicate in the Northwest Territories, reports that "winter must be the so-called tropical valley, which has never before been definitely placed.

EX-ACTOR ARRESTED IN PRIEST'S ATTIRE BY NEW YORK POLICE

Philip A. Goodwin, Held in Connection With Slaying of Los Angeles Broker, Taken by Police at National Vaudeville Artists' Club in United States, Protests His Innocence

New York police today arrested Rev. Philip A. Goodwin on a charge of murdering James Patterson, Los Angeles broker, according to word received from the New York authorities here this morning. Goodwin, according to the New York police, was arrested at the National Vaudeville Artists' Club as a fugitive from justice in response to a telegram from Santa Ana, California. He was in priest's attire when taken.

A message from Santa Ana, stating that Goodwin was wanted there on a charge of murdering James Patterson, Los Angeles broker, whose body was found in Santa Ana Canyon a few days after his disappearance on March 13, caused the man's arrest.

RUM CHARGES FAIL

New York, July 20.—Indictments against Philip A. Goodwin, a former actor, on charges of conspiring to violate prohibition laws were dismissed today.

Goodwin had been a room-mate of Patterson's while the two were in California at one time, and following the finding of the dead man's body, the brother of the alleged murdered broker commenced a private investigation. Checks, written against the dead man's account, had been presented at the bank on several occasions after his disappearance, police allege. These, according to the authorities, resulted in the implication of Goodwin.

Archbishop Limes, of the American Catholic Church, when questioned today as to Goodwin's reputation, told the police in Los Angeles that he had been favorably impressed with the young man on first sight.

"Goodwin then impressed me as a sincere Christian gentleman and immediately began working among the inmates of jails and hospitals. About three or four months ago I ordained him as a priest in the church."

MURDER CHARGE
New York, July 20.—A New York man in priest's attire and calling himself Rev. Philip A. Goodwin, a former actor of Los Angeles, is being held here on a murder charge today by the police. He was arrested last night at the National Vaudeville Artists' Club as a fugitive from justice in response to a telegram from Santa Ana, Calif.

A Masonic pin, a pair of dice, and some newspaper clippings were found in his pockets. One clipping which was apparently from a California paper, told of Goodwin's ordination two years ago, and another mentioned his appointment as assistant to Right Rev. Gregory S. Limes of Los Angeles.

FOR CHURCH FUNDS
Goodwin told the police he had come to New York two months ago to raise funds for the erection of a church at Victoria, by a vaudeville skit, "The Double Cross." An act dealing with the parole system. He said four others in the cast said the act had received a tryout and was awaiting word of acceptance from Loew's vaudeville circuit.

He claims he knows nothing of the reason for his arrest, and said he would exact reprisals for the taking of his fingerprints over his protest. Officials of the Vaudeville Artists' Club said Goodwin had applied for membership but that so far no action had been taken. When arraigned today, Goodwin was held without bail for hearing July 27.

READY TO EXPLAIN
C. P. Flintoff, K.C., counsel for the C.P.R., said that the differences in the figures would be explained at the proper time.

SEEKS TO CROSS-EXAMINE
The flare-up over President Schwenglers of the Chamber of Commerce came when Mr. McGee asked that Mr. Schwenglers be placed on the stand to undergo cross-examination on statements which he had voluntarily made to the Commission yesterday.

Mr. Schwenglers, who had been notified yesterday to attend today appeared with a note from Dr. M. J. Keyes, saying that the witness was in an infirm condition and that he should on no account be subjected to examination such as would force him to use his voice.

"I can assure you Mr. Schwenglers, that no one is more concerned over your comfort and strength and peace than I am," Mr. McGee said. S. B. Woods, counsel for Alberta, jumped up and joined with Mr. McGee in asking that the evidence of (Concluded on page 9)

Twenty Persons Injured in Train Smash in Chicago
Chicago, July 20.—Twenty persons were injured today when an Illinois Central Railroad suburban train collided with a work train in the yards here. Six of the injured were taken to a hospital, where it was said all would recover. The suburban train, crowded with passengers bound for downtown offices when it met the work train head-on.

AUTOISTS HAD NARROW ESCAPE
North Vancouver, July 20.—After giving two hikers a lift along the Capilano road in his two-seater car, James McCall of Vancouver and a companion narrowly escaped death when the automobile suddenly swerved and plunged down a bank, rolling over several times. The four occupants of the car escaped injury when thrown clear, according to a report to the police, but the car was left among the windfalls at the foot of the bank twenty feet below.

NINETEEN WERE HURT IN RIOTS IN CALCUTTA
Calcutta, India, July 20.—Rioting here yesterday between Moslems and Hindus caused injuries to twelve constables and the wounding of seven of the rioters, upon whom the police fired.

The trouble started when a Hindu car in a religious procession was attacked by a party of Moslems, who hurled bricks and empty bottles, and set fire to the car.

WARREN, Pa., July 20.—Damage estimated at $1,000,000 was caused by a fire that destroyed twenty oil tanks of the Warren Refining Company near here. The fire broke out yesterday and was still smoldering today.

Thousands of citizens watched the spectacle as the flames shot high into the air and clouds of heavy smoke enveloped the district. The conflagration was preceded by a series of explosions.

The fire, which started from friction created by driving belts, is not expected to burn itself out for several days.

ARBITRATION NEEDED
Mr. Lloyd George said a similar eradication should take place in industrial life. Strikes and lockouts were all part of the same relic of barbarism. The two essentials of peace were arbitration on all issues and disarmament. As long as great armies remained there would be trouble.

"I was one of those who had to bear the burden, some years ago, of leading the youth of the world into war," he continued. "That is why I am an earnest advocate of peace."

He briefly defended the Treaty of Versailles as the instrument which created the League of Nations, gave liberty to oppressed peoples and established the International Labor Bureau.

He praised the intervention of the churches in the recent British general strike and added amid cheers: "I wish to God they had intervened in 1914."

SWIM CHANNEL? WHY NOT? ASKS LILLIAN CANNON

Women Better Adapted For Arduous Task Than Men, She Learns

By LILLIAN CANNON

Cap Gris Nez, France, July 20.—Although no woman has ever succeeded in swimming the English Channel, there is no physical reason why she should not. In fact, some experts believe that women are better qualified by nature than men to endure such a trial.

This question of a woman's natural resistance to cold and strain has become an important one here this season. We seem to be able to weather the tides and chills just as well as the men swimmers, and I think when it comes to the test some of us will surprise them. Dr. Frederick Graves, of Newcastle, England, believes that woman should always beat man at the game, according to a letter I have just received. He says:

"There are strong reasons why woman should stand the long swim better. Her larger layer of subcutaneous fat, a bad conductor, does not let her vital organs chill so easily in the body-cramping cold of long immersion. Her temperature-regulating mechanism is less affected—she has always accustomed herself to face climatic change better than man, and does not feel cold as he does."

"Look at the women on a cold day with their thin shoes and stockings, low thin dresses and bare heads. They rarely look cold, but the men, muffled in their overcoats, are pinched and chilled."

I think there is much substance in what Dr. Graves says. In many circumstances women can bear reverses better than men, and this should help in a long swim. When I swam the Chesapeake Bay, George Lake started as my companion. We had not slept the night before, we ran into a squall for two hours and weathered some rough water, and lost our way. After six or seven hours he got discouraged and gave up, but I felt perfectly well and was able to finish with plenty of reserve. This helps me to think now that men might not have any great advantage over us in endurance swims and I am going to try to prove it.

All the men who have swum the Channel have had extraordinary courage and grit. I see no reason why a woman who has these attributes cannot also succeed.

I am certainly a little thing compared to most of these men who are competing this year. Helmi is as husky and muscular as Luis Firpo, but he has failed twice. I console myself with the knowledge that if I weigh only 120 pounds I shall have so much less bulk to propel through the water than Helmi. And I want to prove to myself that I have the heart.

One day my trainer looked at my slim wrist and little hand and said: "That's the only thing about you I don't like." But big ships require only comparatively tiny screws. (Copyright, 1926)

MAKES TWO TONS OF CHEESE

Winslow, Me., July 20.—From six ten to twenty-two pounds of cheese is the daily average of Mrs. H. S. Howard of this town. The press in which she manufactures it is more than 100 years old.

Last year Mrs. Howard produced more than 4,000 pounds of cheese, which was sold from her dooryard to automobile tourists.

Several years ago Mr. Howard bought the cheese press when the effects of the Chas. Cole Hayden farm were sold. It had been in that family for more than a century, the Haydens having been famous cheese makers.

The man who thought a buggy was good enough

In the old days a solid, conservative citizen might sniff and tell you he didn't read advertising.

He didn't think so much of the horseless carriage, either. The telephone was new fangled and an insult to the mails.

As for radio, aeroplanes, wireless photography—if they had been born then he probably would have thought them a bit immoral.

But he's changed. He's been educated. His point of view has been made broader and more modern. He has been civilized—by the automobile, the telephone, radio, advertising.

Every single one has opened up new paths for him, taught him new things. Advertising, especially.

Advertising tells him the newest things to wear, the best things to eat. Advertising tells his wife how to make a home up-to-date and attractive. Advertising tells him the prices to pay for things he buys, saves him from the old fashioned ways of doing business—helps him live well, keeps him modern.

Advertising can help you. The advertisements in this newspaper are here to tell you many things that make life more comfortable, more interesting, happier. Read them faithfully. They'll keep you abreast of the times. They'll prevent you from becoming the type of old foggy—who-sniff!—doesn't read advertising.

Advertising is the key to modernity

Three-day Sun Dance by Indians

Pocatello, Idaho, July 20.—Signs of exhaustion and weariness grew more acute last night as sixty Bannock and Shoshone tribesmen entered the final stretch of the three-day sun dance here, scheduled to come to a close to-day.

Since Saturday night the braves had danced without food or water, but cloudy skies yesterday brought cooler weather, which was gratefully received as a blessing from the Great Spirit.

An hour before sundown the dancers were given a brief rest, but as the sun set the tom-toms began their roar, causing the dancers to resume their places.

Just when the dance would end could not be accurately ascertained, as those who knew would not talk.

Peace Words by Bishop of London

London, July 20.—The Bishop of London, the Right Rev. Arthur Winnington Ingram, presiding last night at the Christian Endeavor Conference here, informed those assembled that he had been a teetotaler for forty years, but he did not expect all his fellow countrymen to be teetotalers, although he tried to persuade them to that end. He did protest, however, against interference by British ships with the "splendid experiment" of prohibition in America.

The bishop said that during his forthcoming visit to the United States he hoped to do something to persuade that country to stand wholeheartedly with Great Britain to stop war.

"If America and Britain stand side by side as one," he said, "we can stop any war in the whole world."

Kurjath-Sepper Ruins Excavated

New York, July 20.—Science has unearthed new evidence in support of the Old Testament, and has under scrutiny possible new evidence corroborating the New Testament.

Dr. Kyle, president of the Theological Seminary of St. Louis, has arrived from an archaeological inspection of the excavated ruins of the biblical city of Kurjath-Sepper, founded by the Canaanites in 2000 B.C. and finally destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar in 600 B.C.

Dr. Kyle declares successive ages of the city were traced by layers of ashes, from the first times it was burned, and by kitchen utensils and ropes or well stones placed one upon another.

The city had underneath it rock-hewn rooms for water, food and war supplies.

Dr. Kyle believes the ruins provided a complete account, in agreement with the Bible, of the Canaanites from 2000 B.C. until the exodus and the city's destruction in 600 B.C.

LECTURES IN SEATTLE HEARD BY PHYSICIANS

Seattle, July 20.—Dr. George Dock, an authority on tubercular and heart diseases, told 150 state physicians here yesterday that "the most important part in the curing of tuberculosis or heart disease is the management of the case rather than medical treatment."

It was very essential that physicians spot these diseases early, if a complete cure was to result, he said. The local practitioner should be as competent to deal with tubercular cases as any expert.

He was a speaker at the University of Washington graduate medical lectures which opened for a five-day session here yesterday, as were Dr. Fred Wharton Rankin and Dr. William Frederick Braasch, specialists of the clinic of the Mayo Brothers at Rochester, Minnesota.

COLUMBUS RELICS

New Orleans, July 20.—A full account of Christopher Columbus' last voyage, a roster of his crew, their salaries and all incidents of the trip are said by Dr. Rudolph Schuler, archeologist, to be contained in manuscripts brought here by him from Central America.

PROPHECY OF BIG EVENT IN BRITAIN MADE

London, July 20.—That part of Great Britain's population which has not enough worries already has been mildly interested for the past few weeks in a mysterious prophecy by the Rev. Walter Wynn that "something important in the world's history" would happen to-day, or rather "on or about July 20."

Mr. Wynn did not predict world chaos, but merely gave fair warning that something momentous would happen and he let the public take his prophecy or leave it.

Mr. Wynn's prognostication was based on an ancient allegory believed to be represented in the Great Pyramid of Gizeh. It is claimed the pyramid had correctly predicted many great events of British history since 1346.

Edinburgh Hears Echoes of Strike

Edinburgh, July 20.—An item of $4,000, spent for policemen's clubs during the recent general strike, has aroused the ire of Labor members of the local town council. When the available stocks of truncheons were exhausted towel rollers were bought and doled out to the volunteer officers.

The Laborites declared money was spent like water during the nine-day tieup and cited an item of £1,800 for breakfasts, luncheons, cigarettes and liquor. The authorities replied that the expenses were incurred in connection with an illegal strike, and really should be presented for payment to the Trades Union Congress officials who called the strike.

LIQUOR ARREST IN ONTARIO

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 20.—A bootlegger's distributing house in which nestled several thousand bottles of rare liquors that would bring a total of approximately $40,000 is said through illicit channels, was discovered in an old barn near here. Provincial police swooped down on the farm and arrested William Dwyer.

CONFERENCE PLANS ARE STILL UNCERTAIN

British Premier Unable to Make Definite Statement About Empire Gathering

London, July 20 (Canadian Press Cable).—Premier Baldwin declared he was unable to make any statement on the matter at present, when questioned in the House yesterday concerning the effect of the Canadian political situation on the Imperial Conference set to commence in London, October 5.

Conservative, asked if, in view of the situation in Canada and the importance of the Prime Minister or some other responsible statesman being present, the Premier would suggest a postponement of the conference for two or three weeks.

London, July 20.—Premier Baldwin, answering questions in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, said it would be open to any Government participating in the Imperial Conference in October to submit for consideration other questions, in addition to the subjects already agreed upon for discussion.

Melbourne, July 20 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Questioned regarding the report that he would refuse to attend the Imperial Conference in London in October unless he was definitely assured Canada would be properly represented at the sessions, Premier Stanley Bruce declined to state his position. He wished to await more definite information from Canada regarding the possibility of the general election in that country interfering with her representation at the conference before committing himself to an official declaration.

MINERS AND LAND

London, July 20 (Canadian Press Cable).—Whether or not the Government would afford facilities to do so to striking British coal-miners desirous of emigrating was a question asked in the House of Commons yesterday by Dr. L. Haden Guest, Labor member.

Right Hon. L. C. Amery, Secretary for the Dominions, in reply said he feared there was little prospect of finding employment for English miners at their own trade overseas. The question of settling them on the land overseas was being considered, but any such scheme would require the full approval of the Dominion Governments concerned. He promised the matter would be brought up at the Imperial Conference commencing October 5.

A whole grove of tiny trees, small enough to be held in the hand, has been found in the mountains of British Columbia.

GUARDS AT CHICAGO JAIL ARE INCREASED

Believe Release Effort Planned Following Dynamite Failure Last Sunday

Chicago, July 20.—A second plot to bomb the Cook County Jail here, housing some 300 prisoners, was reported last night by officials investigating the explosion of a dynamite bomb inside the jail walls Sunday morning, believed to have been part of a plot to liberate several prisoners accused of murder.

A guard whose name was withheld said he had been cut in on a crossed telephone wire by mistake and overheard a man believed to be a prisoner say, "We'll get the place next time by going at it from the state attorney's side of the building" and there won't be any slip."

Sheriff Peter M. Hoffman has asked for twenty-two additional jail guards. Fear bombs also will be taken to the jail to quell incipient riots among the prisoners.

VISITOR IN SEATTLE DIED

Seattle, July 20.—While visiting her son, Ernest L. Skeel, Seattle attorney, Mrs. Clara L. Skeel died last night at the Wilsonian Apartments at the age of seventy-five. She had been here with her husband, P. M. Skeel, for about a month. The body will be shipped to the family home in Denver.

In addition to the widower and son, Mrs. Skeel leaves three daughters: Mrs. Bertha McClintock, Denver; Mrs. Clara L. Williams of Minneapolis and Mrs. Ruth Skeel Lee of Winnipeg.

Newspaper Man of London Visits City of Montreal

Montreal, July 20.—"There is no chance of another general strike in Great Britain for a generation and perhaps longer," says Victor Suhr, news editor of The Evening News, London, who is on a visit here.

"As far as the coal miners' strike is concerned, I do not see any hope of settlement before the Fall at the earliest, and probably not before Winter," he added.

He had no particular sympathy for the mine owners, who, he thought, were from thirty to fifty years behind the times in their equipment and organization.

Vancouver Island News

Shawnigan Lake

Shawnigan Lake, July 20.—The home-cooking and jumble sale held in the S.L.A.A. Hall on Saturday under the auspices of the Shawnigan Women's Institute was a qualified success. Approximately $120 was taken, and the hall was crowded with eager buyers most of the afternoon. In addition to the home-cooking stall and the jumble counter several side attractions held the attention of the visitors. Miss Maymie Christian, impersonating Hester Fay, the celebrated palmist and fortune teller, was the centre of attraction. The spinning Jenny, presided over by Miss Joseph Clark and M. Magill, did very well. The dainty candy stall, in charge of Miss Isabel Hurley, assisted by Kathleen Williams and Teddy Williams, had a sign up, sold out. Walter Elford had charge of the ice cream and soft drinks. There was a splendid display of home products, consisting of all kinds of vegetables, honey, bottled fruits, cakes and pastry and a beautiful display of flowers. The Summer visitors took advantage of the good things offered for sale, and practically bought everything in sight. At the close of the day the few remnants left unsold were auctioned off by F. J. Stanton, who caused much merriment with his witty remarks. The result of the sale will enable the ladies of the institute to carry out some of the plans for betterment of the district.

HIGH TAXES OR LOW?

REPORTS FROM VARIOUS SECTIONS of the country during the last three months have indicated better collections among retailers, considerably greater activity in home building, and a notable increase in the sale of automobiles.

The reason for this improved state of affairs will be obvious to most people. The average man, the man earning a salary between the $3,000 and $6,000 mark got a present of a substantial sum from Mr. Robb in the budget which he introduced in the House of Commons last April. Instead of having to pay into the national exchequer the sum of $80 on an income of $4,000, he found to his great satisfaction that he would only have to pay a quarter of that sum—just twenty dollars. He had sixty dollars to put into something else—a new suit on the strength of the budget; something towards the house perhaps; or a help with the first payment on an automobile. The saving on the $6,000 income was $108.50 and on the $10,000 as much as $329.50. These are substantial items in the year's financing of the salaried man and the result of such large savings will be reflected in the larger general circulation of money.

Two divisions which the Conservative party under Mr. Meighen forced in the House of Commons were attacks on the relief which the Government of Mr. Mackenzie King had extended to the taxpayers of Canada. In both of these divisions the budget and its important proposals were approved by a majority. It is conceivable that the voters of this country will entrust their affairs to Mr. Meighen in the light of the attack he and his followers directed upon these tax reductions? Is home building to receive a set-back through the reimposition of such a large annual drain on the yearly salary as that which was being made before the Liberal Government cut it down so drastically? Are the hopes of the man who had been longing for the price of automobiles to come down so that he could buy one to be blasted by a renewal of the old scale of import duties? There should be no doubt about the answer.

If the taxpayer wants to be sure of holding what he got by way of the Robb budget, his course is obviously to see that a Government is returned next September whose policies are designed for the benefit of the majority and not to fatten the profits of the few.

BUT IT FAILED TO HAPPEN

the world had ringed July 20, 1926, as the day on which a universal calamity would startle the world. A noted British antiquarian began all the furor with his studies of the Great Pyramid in Egypt and yesterday's cables informed the peoples of the earth that clairvoyants throughout the British Empire and in many parts of the European Continent were in absolute accord with this authority. In fact this was to be one of the most fateful days in the history of the world.

At this writing everything is as usual in Victoria. There seems to be nothing more serious in sight for Canada than the speech which Mr. Meighen is going to deliver in Ottawa to-night. And that will only be serious for the country if it shall induce the Canadian people to give him the job of forming a Conservative Government after the election in September. Nor have the cables carried advice which would lead us to suppose that there is anything more serious in Europe than a political dilemma in France. So it looks as if July 20, 1926, will pass like all the other days which a few "wise" people predicted were to be days of calamity.

THE HIGHWAY QUESTION

WHEN MR. S. L. SQUIRE OF THE
Canadian Good Roads Association said that "roads are no longer local in their character," but "provincial or national," he was speaking the truth and serving friendly notice on the governments of the country that it should be their duty to consider highway construction and maintenance from the broadest possible standpoint.

Motor traffic, commercial as well as tourist, has become such a factor in our national life that the whole science of road making and road mending has undergone a complete change in the last twenty years. The Department of Public Works of British Columbia has not lagged behind in this work. It has succeeded, by the use of the latest machinery and labor-saving devices, in reducing costs in numerous important technical particulars.

Much road work still remains to be done in this Province; but it is costly, more costly here than in other parts of the country where physical obstacles are less obstinate, and many other departments of the public service are demanding a large contribution from the provincial exchequer. But road building and upkeep these days is no longer merely associated with the opening up of new parts of the country for settlement—with little compensating revenue. Equally important is the road as a factor in encouraging travel, the value of which is computed by bank clearings in those months when the movement of holidaymakers by automobile is at its peak. There is in this aspect, therefore, the force of Mr. Squire's remarks—the necessity of looking upon highways as either provincial or national, and no longer as purely local enterprises.

CANADA GOING STRONG

yesterday show that British Columbia's share of the building gain which was marked all over the Dominion for the month of June was no less than 34.8, or $859,055. It is also to be noted that the value of authorizations for last month revealed an advance over the corresponding month of 1925 of no less than 25.2 per cent.

It is common knowledge, of course, that British Columbia has been going ahead for the last two years, and more particularly during the last twelve months, with every indication of still further progress if development in the various branches shall not be impeded by trade restrictions as understood in terms of higher import duties in respect of the articles which are required in the basic industries. In fact while such newspapers as The Vancouver Daily Province were telling their readers of the marvellous strides which Vancouver, for instance, was making in practically every direction, Hon. H. H. Stevens was telling the people of Eastern Canada that many businessmen from his own city were packing up their goods and chattels and going to Seattle because economic conditions, due to the policies of the Mackenzie King Government, were so bad. Needless to say, he did not repeat that speech when he came back to the Pacific Coast for the election campaign.

In the building activity of which British Columbia is able to boast Victoria is taking her proportionate share. It has been necessary for this city to increase the price of reverted property by reason of the new interest which is being taken by Victorians themselves, and others from the outside, in local real estate.

THE BOON OF PENNY POSTAGE

postage rate is an important boon to the country. It means a considerable saving at the end of the year to everybody, and more particularly to those who freely use the mails.

It was during the regime of Sir Wilfrid Laurier that penny postage replaced the three-cent rate. After the outbreak of the war, when the Government had to tap every possible source of revenue, the additional one-cent was added. With a definite turn of the tide of prosperity throughout the country under the recent Liberal Government, however, provision was made for return to the penny rate on the first day of this month.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

LIMITS TO THEIR POWER

From The Edmonton Journal
There are some things that even dictators cannot control. Some time ago the dispatches told us of a decree that had been issued in Greece prohibiting the wearing of skirts more than fourteen inches from the ground. But the attempt to enforce it had not gone very far before it was countermanded. A young woman was arrested for violation of the government's order and brought to trial. A large audience assembled in the courtroom and hissed the prosecuting counsel. Though the offender was found guilty, the demand for her release became so general that the dictator after eight days bowed to it. He saw that he was in a fair way not only to become very unpopular but also to be made very ridiculous and the decree was forthwith repealed. Now that it is out of the way, it is confidently predicted by those who share the traditional ideas about the perversity of the sex affected that skirts will soon become longer again in Athens.

OFFICIAL BOORISHNESS

From The Seattle Daily Times
Public sentiment supports wholeheartedly the action of Chief Seating in suspending the traffic officer who sent two girls, strangers in the city, to headquarters in a police patrol car, for walking across the street in the face of a stop signal. The disciplinary measure and a police apology should help some to make amends for official ineptitude and lack of tact and judgment.
There is little that can be said in defence of the suspended policeman except that he lost his head and was well grounded in the fundamentals of courtesy. The idea that two girls, one 21 and the other 13, should be subjected to such harsh treatment is shocking. The fact that they were strangers in Seattle and unfamiliar with changing traffic bells made no impression on the tactless officer. The petty offence, in his opinion, made it necessary for them to be taken into custody and sent to headquarters in a patrol car ordinarily used to transport criminals. A Boy Scout would have handled the situation much better.

It is a surprising thing that a member of the police force, so lacking in tact and resource, should be placed where he would come into contact with tourists. It is humiliating to Seattle citizens that a man with a badge of authority should display so little consideration for two girls, one of them a mere child.
Courtesy is a duty a public servant owes to the humblest member of the public. If a city cares nothing for its reputation it should place surly, discourteous policemen in key positions. If, on the other hand, it wishes to be known the length and the breadth of the land as a friendly, hospitable town, it should give traffic officers instruction in civility and common politeness. The hopeless cases should be dropped permanently from the roster of the department.

With our jangling traffic bells, it is hard enough to keep tourists who come for recreation and enjoyment. A few more instances such as that of the tactless police officer probably would deter tourists from coming here at all.

OLD FOGGY

The term "old foggy" is often used in reference to an old-fashioned woman who wears out-of-date clothes, and makes no effort to present an attractive appearance. It is also applied to one who has old-fashioned ideas. The word is spelled either "foggy," "fogey," or "fogi," and is derived from the Danish "fog," a stupid old man, one in his dotage.

Canadian Questions and Answers

CHEMICALS AND ALLIED PRODUCTS

Q.—What is the value of chemicals and allied products in Canada?
A.—Production of chemicals and allied products during 1924 reached $108,217,237. Manufacture of heavy chemicals and the production of medicinal and pharmaceutical preparations showed increases. The coal-tar distillation industry, the numerous small plants producing miscellaneous chemical products held their standing fairly well; explosives, ammunition, fireworks and matches, the manufacture of soap, washing compounds and toilet preparations, and the paint and varnish industry showed slightly lower outputs. Employing 13,796 persons to whom $17,000,000 were paid in salaries and wages, the 457 plants represented a capital investment of $125,000,000.

TWO PROVINCES ATTAIN MAJORITY

Q.—What two provinces recently attained their majority?
A.—The two Canadian provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan attained their majority in regard to age on September 1, 1926. They will then be twenty-one years old as provinces of the Dominion. Prior to that date the areas they now embrace had the status of territories administered largely by the Canadian Federal Government. The occasion of the two provinces reaching their majority provides an interesting retrospect. In 1905 the combined population of Alberta and Saskatchewan was 400,000 in round figures. It is now 1,500,000. The value of the annual agricultural production has increased in twenty-one years from about $40,000,000 to $750,000,000. These two youngest of the nine provinces that form the Federal Union of the Dominion of Canada have reason to be proud of the robust state of their progress. In twenty-one years.

C. VANDERBILT JR. PLANS NEW EFFORTS

Will Try Newspaper Field Again Although His Family Objects; Recently Failed

New York, July 20.—Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. has definitely "split" with his family, he disclosed to-day. Although his father disapproves of a newspaper career for him, he hopes to resume his newspaper operations shortly through a new scheme for earning a living, he said upon his return from Europe.
"Yes, I have split with my family," he told fellow reporters. "I split with them two years ago. My people promised me a lot of support for my newspapers, but they did not come through with it."
Mr. Vanderbilt, a member of the famous New York family, recently became involved financially in difficulties with his tabloids in Miami, Los Angeles and San Francisco, all of which ceased publication.
He hopes to rebuild his shattered fortunes.

NEW CHURCH COLLEGE SOON AT POINT GREY

United Church Board Decides to Start Construction at Once

Vancouver, July 20.—At a full meeting of the board of the United Church College yesterday afternoon it was decided to start work immediately upon the first unit of the new college of the United Church of Canada, which will be erected on the site of the site of the University of British Columbia.
The building, the first one of its kind in the province, will, it is believed, be ready for occupancy by September 1, 1927.
Twenty-five acres have been set aside at the University site for theological colleges for the United Church of Canada.

FOR FORTY STUDENTS
The first unit will be 103 feet by 55 feet, and will consist of a basement and three stories. There will be accommodation for forty students. The building will contain three classrooms, a temporary library, principal's room and accommodation for a matron, on the first floor, while the two upper stories will be used for dormitories. The heating plant, the dining-room and a general room for students will be in the basement.
Immediate steps will be taken to have the ground cleared and stumps removed, and it is believed excavation will be started within a month.
The firm of Sharp and Thompson, University architects, will also act as architects for the United Church College, and it is believed that the building will be practically completed by the end of the year.

TWO MORE UNITS
It is the intention of the United Church College Board to build a second unit as soon as possible after the completion of the first. This second unit will take the form of a memorial tower, fifty feet square, which will contain the permanent offices of the college and the permanent library. The upper story in the tower will be used as a church museum.

A third unit, also included in the plans, will consist of a chapel. Students of Ryerson College, of which Dr. W. G. Brown is principal, and students of Westminster Hall, of which Dr. W. H. Smith is principal, will amalgamate in the new college, and as soon as the British Columbia Legislature meets next Fall a new charter will be obtained for the college, according to Dr. W. H. Smith.

It is understood the Anglican Church is proceeding with similar plans for a new college on the University area, and that ground has already been broken for the proposed building.

U.S. World Court Plan Discussed

Washington, July 20.—Only Cuba, Greece and Liberia have accepted the reservations by the Senate for United States adherence to the World Court protocol.
This became known to-day when a tabulation of interchanges initiated by the State Department last February with notifications to thirty-two governments that the United States was prepared to adhere to the court with reservations, and asking acceptance of these reservations, showed that acknowledgments had been received from nineteen countries. Six others explained they would reserve their decisions until after the Geneva Convention, and no response whatever has been received from the other thirteen nations.

HIGH RATES KEEP VICTORIA STOVES OUT OF PRAIRIES

Discrimination Holding Back Victoria Industry, Railway Commissioners Are Told

Drake Shows Rates From Eastern Points West Lower Than From West to East

That high, discriminatory freight rates are keeping Victoria-made stoves out of prairie markets, was the assertion of S. J. Drake, manager of the Albion Stove Works, who appeared before the Railway Board here yesterday to support the Provincial Government's rate case, as presented by G. G. McGeer, K.C.

Mr. Drake's representations followed the protests of Mayor J. Carl Pendray, on behalf of the city, and J. O. Cameron, representing Island lumbermen, against the high transportation charges which, it was affirmed, are stifling business here. In a carefully-prepared statement to the board Mr. Drake said:
"I am appearing before you in reference to the fifth-class rates as affected by the mountain scale on east-bound traffic—supporting the case presented by counsel for the Province of British Columbia. Mr. Drake said, in opening his testimony before the board:
"I will not touch on the costs of transporting freight west from the prairies as compared with the costs of eastbound traffic from the prairies, as that will be fully covered in the case presented by the counsel for the Province of British Columbia."

HIGH RATES BLAMED
"My company manufactures stoves, ranges and furnaces, and has been established in Victoria for many years—the present company and its predecessor for over forty years. Our business has always been and still is almost entirely confined to local markets on account of the high cost of freight to prairie centres of population. If we could obtain rates which would enable us to compete with similar products of eastern manufacture there is no reason why our output should not be largely increased. The consequent reduction of our manufacturing costs would thus put us in an even better position as regards the strictly local market. The great preponderance of manufacturers is in Eastern Canada, and this is natural, as immigration comes to Canada mainly from the east."

AN UNFAIR ARRANGEMENT
"Canada is one country and we hope to keep it so, therefore the people of the West should be treated the same as those in the East. This must apply to our manufactures, as it is incredible that the Eastern manufacturers, where the large proportion of the population is, should be given treatment—allowing them to supply, not only all their own population to the exclusion of the Western, but also that they should be given the opportunity to reach over and annex part of the territory belonging to the smaller Western factories. How is it possible for us in the West to fight against such an unfair proposition as this? Is it because might is still right that this state of things continues? Why must these things be fought for and finally won? Why not give us what we are entitled to? I am sure you gentlemen cannot but see that it will induce people to come to our Western provinces of Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia if they are given fair treatment."

CITES RATES
The following rates from Eastern terminal points compared with Victoria terminal rates will illustrate:

Terminal	Rate
Victoria to Winnipeg	$1.55
Saskatoon to Winnipeg	$1.44
Montreal to Winnipeg	$1.41
Toronto to Winnipeg	$1.35
Victoria to Regina	$1.30
Montreal to Regina	$1.25
Toronto to Regina	$1.25

ATTACKS MADE BY DEPUTY SHERIFFS

Two Officers in Muskogee, Oklahoma, Became Intoxicated and Went Wild

Muskogee, Okla., July 20.—Thirteen persons shot and clubbed and demolished interiors of three rooming houses were the net result here early to-day of a "reign of terror" precipitated by two intoxicated peace officers who were finally captured by fellow officers.

One of the men, Paul Davis, a deputy sheriff, was shot, and probably fatally wounded before being subdued. He, together with five of the victims, was in a hospital to-day, while his companion, Veg Cormack, a city detective, was held in jail.
Intoxicated on whisky they had seized in their night raid, the officers entered the hotels, brandishing revolvers, and threatened the guests. Sleeping men were shot and clubbed and the fixtures of the establishment were wrecked.
A riot call was turned in and the pair eventually were overpowered. As the men were being taken to the police station, Davis grasped a club from one of the policemen and beat him severely over the head, at the same time pinning the wrist of the other officer's revolver hand. The officer managed to release himself and shot Davis.

About sixty members and friends of the club were present, all voting the evening a decided success. Two delightful sketches were acted by the younger members of the club, entitled "Maggie and Jiggs" and "The Pirates." "Maggie and Jiggs" was performed as the beach, the cast consisting of R. Bewick as "Maggie," V. Nunn as "Jiggs," A. Nunn as "Dinky Moore" and B. Readings as a bathing girl, all taking their parts in a very credible manner. The pirate sketch was acted on a raft, representing a galleon. The actors in this were Misses Katie Lorenzen and Muriel Seeford, and V. Foster, V. A. and H. Nunn, B. Readings, R. Brethour and R. Bewick, who all did their share in earning the hearty applause which they received at the conclusion of the performance. ## YOUR BABY and MINE

By MERTLE MEYER ELDER

Mrs. Elder will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

THE WEE ONES
Mrs. A. G.: Every baby sneezes a lot, probably because of the delicacy of the nose lining almost any dust or strong breeze might prove an irritation. It does not necessarily mean the beginning of a cold.
A two months old baby is hardly ready to teethe, and why she should sneeze and sneeze her gums is beyond me. I imagine what she does is not at all out of the ordinary, except that being your first child you are noticing every little thing she does.
Mrs. R. P.: A baby of two and one-half months who weighs twelve pounds is doing well, as he was just an average weight at birth. I think he would be benefited by being fed but once in four hours, and then just before nursing giving him one table-spoon of barley or oatmeal water. Your milk is evidently very rich and this causes the first difficult movement, and the numerous motions after this. Perhaps the 5 p.m. feeding is not as satisfactory as the rest. You can give him one-half ounce of the oatmeal and one-half ounce of boiled milk after this nursing and omit the oatmeal water before the nursing.
ALMOST A YEAR OLD
Mrs. O. E. B.: A ten months old baby who already has eight teeth is so far ahead of schedule that it is impossible to tell if he may not continue to try and break more records this summer. Anyways, no one can possibly tell when any child is to have teeth. It all depends. He is a splendid weight for his age. The colic will not be necessary for him this summer, as he is up to schedule in every way. He sure he gets plenty of good, cheap sunshine, though this doesn't mean that he has to be put in a position where he would be sunstruck. In advising sunlight for babies, especially in the summer time, one always has the fear that mothers will overdo it and

University School Magazine Contains Variety of Topics

Much to Interest Students and Graduates in Latest Issue of School Book

The June issue of the University School magazine, "The Black and Red," off the press at the close of the last term, is now in the hands of the student body of the institution and those who subscribe to the publication. Filled with a profusion of excellent pictures of the various athletic teams and leading school figures, the magazine is a cherished possession of students of the University School, and also stir pleasant memories in the hearts of past students of the school into whose hands it finds its way.
School activities of the year are given prominence in this book. Athletics hold a premier position. Edited and arranged by the students themselves, with the co-operation of members of the staff, the magazine is a work of interest to graduates and "old boys" and things which stir old recollections. One article, from the page of "The Black and Red" of 1909, comes from the pen of the late Capt. H. V. Harvey, M.A., who was killed during the war when gallantly leading his men into action. It is a thing like these that make the school magazine a possession to be cherished.

V.O. NURSES BIG FACTORS IN LOW INFANT MORTALITY

Three Local Nurses Paid 923 Visits in July; Mothers Instructed

In season and out of season the nurses of the Victorian Order pursue their ministrations in the interest of public health, and they are always ready to respond to any call for their services. Last month there were five night confinements attended by them. All these, as well as many other mothers, have the benefit of advice from the V.O.N. nurses for weeks before and after the birth of their babies and the order is glad to believe that these pre-natal and post-natal lessons, given by the nurses, contribute in no small degree to Victoria's record of a very low infant mortality.
At the monthly meeting of the local branch of the V.O.N., Miss Thornley, supervising nurse, reported an unusual amount of work during the month, a total of 923 visits having been paid.
Of these 445 were nursing visits of which forty were free and 405 non-nursing of which 399 were free. These non-nursing visits are educational and included 161 infant welfare, fifty-six pre-natal, forty post-natal and 123 instructive (twenty-seven of these to tubercular patients). The nursing or bedside visits, which included seventeen confinements, include also pneumonia cases, tubercular and other communicable diseases were attended. Three nurses were on duty with ten hours duty on week days and five on Sundays.
There will be no board meeting in August, owing to the absence from town of many of the members.

A WOMAN'S DAY ABROAD

By ALLENE SUMNER

ON BOARD S.S. Leviathan, July 20—
"How heavenly! Six days at sea with nothing to do but rest!" enthused envious souls when I embarked.

It is to laugh! They were wrong! First of all, they were exactly one hour on at midnight each night. We may climb the upper berth ladder at 11:30 and in 12:30 one minute later. Seems to be something about the sun doing something funny at sea!

We stand in line for hours. Line to change forms. Line to buy boat tickets. Line to get baggage checked. Line to get seat at table. Line to get steamer rug. Line to ask for a bath. "Baths" will persist in running through my story.

The bath stewards take a craftsman's pride in their work. They brag to one another of the "just right" temperatures they achieve, and how the last missus said she never had such a nice bath before.

I am glad I am only a tourist. Melodies are floating from the second class.

A lady old enough to remember that some folks should be seen and not heard is warbling "Annie in the Deep" in her library. We tourists have a few Cooper and Sir Walter Scott volumes.

Second class gets a bit more modern with "Garden of Allah" and "Penrod."

Up in the first class saloon whether I bootlegged myself, they have Ben Hecht and "Green Hat".

However, they do not read up there. They play bridge, mah jong, chess, gum, smoke cigarettes and languidly call "steward". The array of emerald and diamond bracelets and rings is dazzling.

The beauty parlor is doing a rushing business. I watched many a blonde emerge who had entered the emporium of fragrance as a brunette. Many are reading "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes".

My duenna is reading guide books. We are traveling alone. No party for us. We once knew a girl who went with a party and has told for five years the story of how they didn't see Notre Dame by moonlight because the outlined trip did not specify "moonlight" and the guide wouldn't take them until the next night, when the moon was gone.

My duenna, who will figure much in this narrative, is traveling incognito. She says that a girl is known by the company she keeps. Her last name is Herring. Her middle name is Pretzel. And her first name is Pansy.

Pansy Pretzel Herring just whispered in my ear that she had seen a school of porpoises. I am denied seeing such things, staying in this cabin as I must, to give news of what's what to my large and admiring following.

I now, too, go forth to see the porpoise, which are, it seems, large black fish, more coy than whales but smaller.

Esquimalt Garden Party—Mrs. G. P. Clarke has kindly consented to open the garden party which the ladies of Court Maple Leaf A.O.F. will hold to-morrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Booth, 923 Esquimalt Road, commencing at 3 o'clock.

The A.O.F. Juvenile Band will be in attendance and the pupils of Miss Mona Jewell will dance.

Royal Oak W.I.—The regular meeting of the Royal Oak W.I. will be held at the residence of Mrs. F. Carol, Royal Oak P.O., Wednesday, July 21, at 7:30 p.m. Conveners for the W.I. exhibit for provincial fair are asked to be present, and a good attendance is requested.

WOMAN CANDIDATE TOO MODERATE FOR LABOR EXTREMISTS

Margaret Bondfield's Attitude Causes Restiveness; Socialist Papers Support Her

London, July 20 (Canadian Press Cable)—Wallace electors on the whole are apathetic concerning the by-election to take place there tomorrow on account of the retirement of Sir Patrick Hastings, who was a Labor member of the House of Commons. The candidates are A. C. Curry, Liberal, Miss Margaret Bondfield, a former woman—Labor M.P., and Sam Howard, Conservative.

The extreme Laborites are restive at the policy of Miss Bondfield in maintaining her moderate attitude as member for Wallaseid, but the local Socialist press declares it would be a mistake for Labor men to refuse her their votes.

"It is much better to give the Premier a smack in the face with a right wing member than to allow him to give the workers a smack in the face with a boss member," these newspapers argue.

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

ESQUIMALT TAXES COLLECTION GOOD

80.94 Per Cent of Total Paid
Into Treasury on June 30

A statement of taxes and rates collected up to June 30, 1926, by the municipality of Esquimalt total, including delinquent taxes, approximately $83,607. The amount of current taxes at a rate of 26.50 mills thus far collected was given out at the meeting of the Esquimalt Council last night as being $65,046.00, or a percentage of 80.94, according to the report of the collector of taxes. The total levy is $80,551.77.

Sewer rates and rentals collected totaled $13,632.73, or 75.86 per cent; arrears, outstanding at December 31, 1925, collected totaled $2,508.48, or 18.05 per cent and delinquent taxes, outstanding since December 31, 1925, totaled $2,261.60 or 24.70 per cent. PREVIOUS COLLECTIONS

A table of comparative per centage collections for the past six years is as follows:

	1921	1922	1923	1924	1925
Current taxes	$7,30	$7,30	$7,30	$7,30	$7,30
Sewer rates	$1,88	$1,88	$1,88	$1,88	$1,88
Arrears	$2,81	$2,81	$2,81	$2,81	$2,81
Delinquent taxes	$2,46	$2,46	$2,46	$2,46	$2,46

"This is a highly satisfactory percentage," commented Councillor Pomeroy last night, "and bears comparison favorably with the past five years' receipts."

The whole council should be very much gratified at the tax collections, especially as at this time, Esquimalt feels itself in stringent circumstances, said Councillor Pomeroy. The council agreed.

HERRIOT CABINET

Paris, July 20.—The new Herriot Cabinet held its first meeting this afternoon. The ministers discussed the general financial and political situation and elaborated their programmes, which they intend to submit to the Chamber of Deputies after the reading of the ministerial declaration on Thursday.

NO INFLATION

M. de Monzie, Finance Minister, declared to-day the new Government would not have recourse to inflation, but at the same time the Minister of Finance would be helpless without "certain latitude and liberty of action."

This was interpreted to mean de Monzie would ask very much the same full powers as the Briand Government requested. If granted, it is learned, he will promptly move an adjournment of Parliament until October.

Among the financial measures attributed in some quarters as being desired by M. Herriot is some form of capital levy.

The general financial situation with which the new Cabinet has to deal is extremely grave and the general impression is that the Herriot Government will be short-lived. It may even be overthrown on its first appearance in the chamber.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The members and adherents of the Douglas Street Baptist Church will hold a farewell picnic at the Willows beach on Thursday afternoon and evening in honor of their pastor, Rev. W. H. Redman, who will close his services with the church on Sunday next, July 25.

The picnic committee of the city services wish to extend thanks to the merchants and others who contributed generously to the success of the annual outing. Prize winners in the tombola contest are fifteen in number. The holders of tickets Nos. 4, 13, 17, 21, 26, 35, 223, 302, 378, 399, 411, 417 and 454 are asked to call at the City Lands Department to claim their prizes.

J. Nott was fined $50 in the city police court this morning for driving his automobile to the common danger on the portion of Johnson Street last night which runs across the Southgate Reserve. Nott drove his car at a reckless rate and ultimately jumped over the embankment in the middle of the road and landed in the unimproved portion of the reserve. He was arrested and charged accordingly.

Motosaki Baba, charged with keeping a still for manufacturing spirits without a license, and for keeping parts of a still on his premises, was arrested last night by Sergeant Robert Owens of the B.C. police and appeared in the Provincial Police court this morning. He faced Magistrate Jay on no less than four separate charges and was remanded until tomorrow for hearing. It is alleged he was engaged in the manufacture of sake.

The Kiwanis excursion to Seattle last Wednesday was most successful in every respect. Kiwanian Harold Dugan reported at to-day's luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Chamber of Commerce. Over 500 men, women and children took advantage of the opportunity to spend six hours in the Sound metropolis, and the Kiwanis Club made a profit of $167 after taking the responsibility of guaranteeing $1,200 to the transportation company. Votes of thanks were tendered Vice-President Atwell King, and the daily newspaper for publicity accorded the excursion, and also to the management of the Waldorf Hotel in Seattle for free use of quarters.

TELLS WHY STATES REFUSED TO ENTER LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Rev. Dr. Gilbert Wilson of Chicago Addresses Kiwanis Club

Rev. Dr. Gilbert Wilson of Chicago was the speaker at to-day's luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Wilson is a brother of Rev. W. G. Wilson of the First United Church, and is well known in Canada as an educationist, having held pastorates in Winnipeg and Vancouver.

A review of the reasons which caused the United States to refrain from taking an active part in the League of Nations formed the subject of Dr. Wilson's address. The speaker regretted that the United States had, at the last moment, refused to enter the League after taking an important part in the early steps which led to the organization of the League.

MANY GOOD REASONS

One of these was the sudden change of front by the British. The British vote on the question of Irish self-government, on the Russian turnover in attitude towards attainment of possession of Constantinople were cited as similar, and Dr. Wilson asserted that many good reasons influenced the people of the United States.

One of these was the close association of the League with the personality of the late President Wilson. The United States was sensitive to the fact that European rulers were acclaiming Mr. Wilson and did not like the novel idea of the action of President Wilson in leaving the United States to carry out personal negotiations with European rulers. In addition, President Wilson's cabinet was considered by the people to be unduly weak, and the President had been regarded as autocratic in America and even more so in his actions in Europe.

THE "BIG THREE"

Practically everything was done behind closed doors by the "big three," Dr. Wilson recalled. This tendency was related to the voters of the United States when the great body of secretarial officials returned home from Paris, these experts being critical of settlements arranged without their advice or knowledge.

"Woodrow Wilson had his enemies, he was a silent man," history shows, declared Dr. Wilson. He recalled the quarrel between the late Senator Lodge and President Wilson and showed that, in the absence of Mr. Wilson, post-war reorganization of United States governmental departments was unduly delayed and by graft exposures of wide ramifications.

The German element in the United States feared militarism in France and so opposed entry into the League, their action being supported by the Irish, who were disappointed at failure of the President to insist on Irish self-government becoming a factor in League affairs.

SOWING WAR SEEDS

There were people who saw in the Treaty of Versailles the seeds of a new world war, and perhaps they were not far wrong," he said, recalling the French attitude of stubborn refusal to even pay interest on their international debts.

"The publication by Russia of the European international partition treaties was also a distressing illumination of Europe's past," he said. This is a pretty bad affair, perhaps it would be better for us to concentrate on bettering our own land before we

MAYOR AND SCHWENGERS CLASH OVER EVIDENCE GIVEN RAILWAY BOARD

Mr. Schwengers yesterday before the board he was in no position to submit to questioning on that evidence.

"I agree that a man who is sick should not be made to suffer, but when a witness such as this man comes into this court voluntarily and condemns certain things and exceeds his official authority as he did yesterday, to me it is a matter of great importance when he comes now and says that his voice is not standing up when we propose to cross-examine him," Mr. McGeer went on.

Mr. Schwengers said that he proposed to answer any questions that might be sent him in writing from the board. Mr. McGeer said that he had attended all the Chamber of Commerce meetings here and that no one had ever been passed authorizing Mr. Schwengers to appear before the Railway Board and give evidence such as he did yesterday.

Mr. Schwengers said that he had been asked to appear before the Chamber of Commerce then for Mr. Schwengers to come here and make the extraordinary statements he made yesterday. Mr. McGeer asked, "No, the Chamber of Commerce decided not to appear as a body and all that was authorized was the written statement," Mayor Pendray replied.

Mr. McGeer said that he had attended all the Chamber of Commerce meetings here and that no one had ever been passed authorizing Mr. Schwengers to appear before the Railway Board and give evidence such as he did yesterday.

Mr. Schwengers said that he had been asked to appear before the Chamber of Commerce then for Mr. Schwengers to come here and make the extraordinary statements he made yesterday. Mr. McGeer asked, "No, the Chamber of Commerce decided not to appear as a body and all that was authorized was the written statement," Mayor Pendray replied.

LIBERALS SOLID IN NORTH MANSON FINDS ON VISIT

The Liberal Party will carry Skeena again in the federal election this Fall and take Cariboo from the Conservative column was the assertion of Attorney-General (Mr. Mansfield) when he returned here to-day from a trip through northern British Columbia.

"The Skeena riding is solidly Liberal," Mr. Mansfield affirmed. "I never knew Mr. Stork to be so strong in his constituency as he is to-day. In Cariboo the Liberal Party also is virtually assured of victory."

Mr. Mansfield was delighted with the progress of the northern districts in the last year. "Never in my experience have the crops been so good," he said. "The settlers there are greatly encouraged and the country is growing steadily."

Mr. Mansfield practically all his constituency of Omineca during his trip after going north on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Colliers Advance
To Semi-finals In Connaught Series

Island Miners Defeat Edmontton in Second Game by 3-2,
Winning Round 4-2

Will Meet Winners of Saskatchewan-Manitoba Series;
Davies Stars

Vancouver, July 20.—Canadian Colliers advanced another step in their quest of the Canadian soccer championship and the Connaught Cup by defeating Canadian Nationals, of Edmonton, 3-2 here last night. The coast eleven won the first game of the series by a score of 1-0.

The Islanders, by their well-earned victory, qualified to meet the winners of the Saskatchewan-Manitoba series in the semi-finals of the cup play. The games will be played in Regina on July 24 and 26.

Canadian Colliers played a sound game, outgunning their opponents, showing greater aggressiveness and were superior on the defense. The Albertans, on the other hand, pressed with determination, but lost many golden opportunities through over-anxiety or bad judgment. They uncovered their best form in the second half, but when they appeared to be well on the way to evening matters, became careless and reckless. This proved their downfall.

DAVIES STANDS OUT

One player stood out in the triumph of Canadian Colliers in "Tuffy" Davies, centre forward. Davies scored the goal that won the first contest, and he got two more on Monday night. And he got them at a time when his team seemed to have lost its grip on the series and the star of the Alberta visitors was shining brightest.

After enjoying three-fourths of the play for forty-one minutes in the first half, and in that forty-one minutes missing two well-placed opportunities, Davies scored the winning goal, which meant that the Colliers were two up.

Monahan scored the goal from a free-kick, almost at half-time. Pinnell, the Edmonton goalie, being hampered by his back as he vainly tried to scoop the ball from beneath the bar.

The Albertans started the second half as if they meant business, and in five minutes got through, McKay doing the trick with a well-placed shot that left Talt helpless. This goal seemed to bewilder the coast eleven, and in another ten minutes the Albertans drew level with the visitors, McKay scoring with a hard ground shot.

The Islanders recovered their equilibrium in time and pressed hard. Their efforts were rewarded with a pair of counters from Davies' well-trained toe.

Winnipeg, July 20.—The United Western soccer team, as a result of their five to nothing victory here last night over the G.W.A. of Port William, will enter the semi-finals of the Connaught Cup series. United Western won the round by 5-1.

United Western will meet the winners of the C.P.R. Montreal and Willy-Overland, Toronto, game, which will be played in Toronto tomorrow.

IT'S UP TO HIM

Willard Crocker

Havana, July 20.—Willard Crocker, who has been suffering from a bad cold, and Regalio Paris, who has a strained ankle, were able to rest yesterday while rain washed over the courts where the Canadian-Cuban Davis Cup matches are scheduled.

WILLARD CROCKER

Early prospects yesterday indicated that the two-all tie into which the teams fell when Jack Wright won his match on Sunday might be broken with the conclusion of the Crocker-Paris match, which stood four games to three in favor of the Cuban when it was postponed Sunday. After 5 o'clock, however, rain began to descend and the spectators and players left the club.

Enthusiasts are now wondering whether the enforced rest will be of greater benefit to the Canadian or the Cuban. Crocker, who caught a cold shortly after his arrival here for the matches, has been in rather poor condition throughout the play.

HORSE RACING

Vancouver, July 20.—With one or two exceptions the favorite horses came in either first or second in every event at the second day of the Astor Club racing meet held at Hastings Park here yesterday.

The first race, a two-year-old and one-half furlongs, was won by a perfect average, being hit by the pitcher and swatting a single in two attempts. F. Campbell and Fetherstone each had two outs of base. None of the Eagles managed to hit. Noble twice. George Gandy had about the best average with one out of base. He was hit by a beautiful three-bagger to right in the fourth inning.

THE BOX HITTERS

Roy Copas had a big night with the willow and crashed into the hard singles and sacrifice hit in five trips to the plate. Noble and Minnie each got two hits out of base. Forster had one out of base. He walked five and struck out one. Ross issued no passes and struck out one.

Travelers Win From
Eagles In a Listless
Game and Top League

Samplen Now Have Half-
game Advantage Over Sons;
Smother Eagles 16-7

Eleven Errors Made by Teams in Slow Game; Travelers Bat
Two Pitchers Hard

Several Travelers fattened their batting averages considerably last night at the expense of the Eagles, whom they handed a severe walloping by 16-7. Incidentally the Travelers took first position in the league standing, one half a game ahead of the Sons of Canada. There seems to be no room for argument as to which is the better team in the league now, although the Sons will have a lot to say in the matter yet.

Last night's game was a slow, listless affair, numerous errors creeping into the play, besides a number of delays and interruptions, with the result that the game was called in the seventh on account of darkness. The result was never in doubt for the Travelers commenced in the first inning with four runs and had run up their total to four-ty-eight in the fourth frame before the Eagles had found their legs.

EIGHT TALLIES IN FOURTH

In the first, second, fourth and seventh innings the Travelers tallied in the second, the play being fourth, during which eight runners crossed the plate. Six hits were made in this inning, which, with two walks and error gave the Travelers their tallies. They had scored four in the first on three hits, two bases on balls and two in the second on a single and two errors. Noble and Faulkner Campbell and two errors in succession by Cal Richards gave the Travelers their seventh run in the fourth. In the eighth inning the Travelers registered twice, both Colin Campbell and Eatherstone trotting over the plate.

The Eagles attempted a rally in the fourth when they gathered in three runs on two errors, a hit and a walk. They also tallied in the fifth when two errors and two hits gave them two runs. In the sixth errors did it all, three being chalked up one after the other by the Travelers. Two runs were scored.

NOBLE TWIRLED WELL

Jack Noble's pitching for the Travelers was certainly good and very few runs would have been scored had it not been for the errors of his team-mates, of which there were five. Jack only allowed four safe cracks, fanned seven times and walked three. Johnny Kerr started for the Eagles but retired in the fourth in favor of Ross and the Travelers had secured fifty singles off him in the one inning. Ross allowed but three hits during the remainder of the game. Kerr was touched up for twelve safe averages and issued five and struck out one. Ross issued no passes and struck out one.

THE BOX HITTERS

Roy Copas had a big night with the willow and crashed into the hard singles and sacrifice hit in five trips to the plate. Noble and Minnie each got two hits out of base. Forster had one out of base. He walked five and struck out one. Ross issued no passes and struck out one.

Opening Day Disastrous For Singles and Rink Champions at Vancouver

Victoria Bowlers do Well;
Over 800 Entries Competing
For Titles

Vancouver, July 20.—Monday was a bad day for two provincial champions in the opening play of the British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association's annual tournament, William McQueen, of Victoria, holder of the Seaton Trophy, being beaten in the first round, while Bryson's champion rink of Cedar Cottage, winners of the Spencer Trophy last year, went down to defeat by a 16-15 score to Wilson of Burnaby.

With well over 800 entries, the officials staged a big programme Monday, sixty-four singles and four rounds each of the Malkin and Spencer Trophies were concluded.

LOCALS DO WELL

Victoria entries fared well in the first rounds. The McCoish rink of Victoria advanced to the third round in the Malkin rink event, beating Leckie's rink of Vancouver in the second round after defeating Walker's of this city in the first. Leckie's rink of Vancouver, the holders of the Seaton Trophy, were defeated by the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney heavyweight championship fight.

While Rickard was holding his conferences, the famous contract between Dempsey and Harry Wilson, the negro challenger, signed at Niles, Mich., early in the year, bounced into the situation in the form of a threat to the Chicagoans. Rickard, president of the Coliseum Athletic Club, who declared he now holds the contracts and that if Dempsey boxes in Chicago, he must box Wilson here before engaging Tunney.

CLASH BETWEEN OLD AND NEW FEATURED IN DOMINION FILM

Realistically picturing the clash between the old and the new generation, "Padlocked," Allan Dwan's latest Paramount production, opened at the Dominion Theatre last night and captured the first night audience with the vitality and dramatic vigor of its story, the charm and human appeal of its characters, and the stamper and luxury of its atmosphere and backgrounds.

The picture, aside from its excellent entertainment qualities, is a moving and powerful plea for tolerance and sympathetic understanding on the part of the older folk in their relation to modern youth.

Readers of the Cosmopolitan Magazine will recall the story by Rex Beach which appeared serially some months ago. It is a story of what is happening to-day in thousands of homes where parents and children look at life from different points of view. Edith Gilbert is a shining example of the modern, freedom-loving American girl, who resents her narrow-minded father's efforts to "padlock" her soul, stifles her ambitions and repress her innocent pleasures.

When his intolerance finally leads to her mother's accidental death, the girl runs away from home to become a cabaret dancer in New York. Her exciting adventures amidst the gay night life of Broadway and the millionaire society atmosphere of Long Island is vividly and brilliantly portrayed. The manner in which the older Gilbert is brought to a startling realization of his injustice to his daughter, their subsequent reunion and the girl's romance with a young actor of wealth bring the picture to a stirring climax and a happy ending.

Lois Moran, who jumped into the limelight via "The Girl in the Red Velvet Dress," has given a memorable performance as the modern daughter; Noah Beery handles the exacting role of the bigoted father in his usually deft fashion;

TENTH CAVALRY HAS PROMINENT PART IN SHOW AT COLUMBIA

When the famous Tenth Cavalry, which plays a prominent part in "The Golden Strain," Fox Film version of Peter B. Kyne's stirring story, which opened yesterday at the Columbia Theatre, was organized in 1866, few of the soldiers could read and none could write. Many of the soldiers were plantation hands from the South—and seldom could one be found capable of doing clerical work.

To-day, many of the men are well-versed in the arts, and great numbers are capable of doing office work of the highest order. They can operate typewriters, take dictation, handle a telephone switchboard and solve many difficult problems in higher mathematics.

If you visit the quarters of the enlisted men at Fort Huachuca, where Victor Schertzinger filmed many of the outdoor sequences of the Fox story, you will find good books, excellent phonographic records, draughting materials and, in a number of instances, correspondence courses, with the lessons neatly arranged on hand-made desks.

"THE SEA BEAST" IS TUMULTUOUS EPIC OF AMERICAN WHALERS

"The Sea Beast," at the Playhouse this week, justifies in every way the glowing heaps of golden adjectives that have been piled up about this supreme effort of the Warner Brothers.

John Barrymore is the star, but even with Barrymore, the one actor who brings to the screen the feel of that indefinable quality called genius, the drama of "The Sea Beast" is the thing. For "The Sea Beast" is a suggestive power, in its overtones of a surging life, is more than a photograph; it is an epic of the heroic life of the American whalers when, in their swift clipper ships, they carried their whale hunts through the seven seas. It is a picture of rich, colorful beauty, of heart-searing pathos; of poetry that sings in action of courageous deeds; of emotions as violent and eternal as the terrific storms that sweep through the picture. The sea dominates, and even

THE VILLAGE BUTCHER IN IVANHOE

The humorous role of Sween, the village butcher, in the peasant Ivanhoe, which is to be shown at the Arena on July 28, 29, 30, 31, will be played by that rollicking individual Bob Webb, whose big voice and quaint sayings will make many laughs. The part of Sween's friend, Hubert, will be played by A. Legge-Willis, who forms a good partner for the inimitable Bob.

MOVIE-ANA

The average age of movie "extra" applicants continue to veer away from the twenties toward the fifties. A few years ago one seldom saw persons beyond the full bloom of youth in the studio vestibules.

To-day a surprising number of middle-aged people apply for the day-to-day screen jobs. Many of them are people of placid temperament, hailing from the middle West who want to play "mamma" and "father" roles. Patiently they wait, complaining in the belief that they can assume sagely character part satisfactorily. Many of them bring their knitting and gossip in friendly fashion as they await the crumbs from the movie table.

Youth is more quickly disheartened, more fickle in its ambitions. It moves on to other fields while age is content to pick up pin-money.

ROLICKING FARCE
AT COLISEUM HAS DRAMATIC CLIMAX

Last night a large audience witnessed an excellent show by an enlarged Coliseum Company in a rollicking presentation of the clever melodramatic farce "A Full House" which bids fair to exceed in popularity the high-class entertainment which was offered by the Government Street theatre last week. Amid increasing laughter the play surges along in a rapid and dramatic final curtain which comes down on a play which has seemed all too short. The policy of having high-class vaudeville between the acts is continued with success. Items by Gordon Nelson and Jack Cassidy being a particular delight to the audience.

BEN LYON AND MAY
McAVOY ADMIRABLY
CAST IN "THE SAVAGE"

Motion picture lovers who like good, clean, side-splitting comedy mixed with plenty of thrills and a delightful love story should not miss seeing "The Savage," which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre. First National is to be congratulated on this picture.

Ben Lyon and May McAvoy have the featured roles, and it is rarely that one sees such a brilliant couple so admirably cast. The part of the savage, made for Ben, and Miss McAvoy, as always, gives a splendid performance. Sam Hardy, who scored such a hit in "Bluebird's Seven Wives," in which he appeared as a press agent, scores another in this picture as Ben's managing editor.

Pauline McLaughlin as the "Savage" is well cast and performs admirably as does Charlotte Walker, and Tom Maguire in the role of an eccentric and hen-pecked old scientist, is the last word in perfect casting.

One may judge from the above that the writer likes the picture. He does. It is a splendid piece of work. Ben Lyon is a writer of animal life for a scientific magazine. A rival magazine is sending its writers to the Mariposa Islands with a professor to search for the lost tribe of white savages. Ben is shipped ahead by his boss to play the part of a savage and thus put across a hoax on the professor and the other magazine. We will tell you no more of the plot. It is too good to reveal. Ben Lyon does a splendid piece of work throughout.

Then there is a surprise in the nature of a prehistoric brontosaurus which Ben rides wildly over a jungle island. The picture is filled with laughs. It was directed by Fred Newmeyer, who directed Harold Lloyd for the past eight years, and he has lost none of his cleverness in situations that are side-splitting. It is an excellent picture.

IVANHOE THRILLS AS HE FEELS BIG SALMON
FIGHTING FOR LIFE

Famous Knight Had Forced March Sunday and Then
Met Fishing Party

Result of First Fishing Trip
Was One Forty-five Pound
Salmon; Here Friday

Ivanhoe was cheated out of his day of rest on Sunday. Just as he had picked Dancer out in a nice patch of green grass, a messenger arrived in great haste with a letter. Asked how he had managed to find Ivanhoe, the messenger said he had followed along the main road passed Comox when he picked up the unusual hoof-marks of Dancer. He followed these into the camp.

Ivanhoe exhibited a slight concern over the contents of the letter. It asked him to make a forced march on Sunday, owing to the fact that the time of his arrival in Victoria had to be put forward twenty-four hours.

Owing to the fact that Major Taylor, director of the pageant, wishes to have a full rehearsal at the Arena on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Gyro Club was forced to communicate with Ivanhoe and have him arrive the preceding evening.

WENT FISHING

As a result Ivanhoe saddled up Dancer at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning. He kept Dancer shifting at a good pace, and by 6 o'clock had traveled nearly thirty miles, which was his longest trip so far. He went into camp near Bowser, and was greeted by a party who were going on a fishing trip. They invited Ivanhoe to come along. Ivanhoe relished the experience and, after seeing that Dancer had a good spot to feed on, went off in a boat.

The party were very anxious for Ivanhoe to land a spring salmon, so they all took the line firmly in their hands and for the first time felt the thrill of a big Spring fighting for liberty.

For forty minutes Ivanhoe played the big fish, and when he saw it make its first leap out of the water, he shouted, "My kingdom for this fish!"

LANDED AT LAST

Ivanhoe finally brought the Spring salmon, and with a gasp heaved him aboard. The scales showed that the fish was forty-five pounds six ounces.

Yesterday morning Ivanhoe filled up on salmon steaks and then left on another long ride, reaching Nanaimo Bay at 6 o'clock in the evening. In the quiet of the evening Ivanhoe and Dancer discarded their armor and went for a swim in the cool waters of the bay. Dancer revelled in the swimming and Ivanhoe held on to his tail and was towed around for quite a distance.

This morning Ivanhoe saddled up and expects to pass through Nanaimo and arrive near South Wellington before nightfall.

The pageant Ivanhoe, which will be staged at the Arena on July 28, 29, 30 and 31, will be one of the most outstanding events ever held in this city. The tickets will go on sale on Saturday at Pimley and Ritchie's View Street.

ARRIVES FRIDAY

Ivanhoe will be greeted at the City Hall by Mayor Penderay on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, and from that time on will be the outstanding guest in the City of Victoria. The show in which he will be the leading performer will be witnessed by capacity houses, the Gyro Club hope. The assistance of every citizen is looked for in making the pageant the success it should and can be.

COUNCIL SETTLES
TAX PENALTY FOR ALL DELINQUENTS

Fifteen Per Cent Penalty Will Bring in Funds and Avoid Borrowing Necessity

Whether or not taxpayers of Esquimalt should pay a penalty of fifteen per cent after the taxes were past their time limit for payment, or whether they should be given a one per cent per-month penalty, was debated by the Esquimalt Council last night.

Councillor Cox and Councillor Neild stood for a lower penalty, with the former championing the cause. Councillor Pomeroy, however, explained that unless taxes were paid the council was seriously embarrassed and more money had to be borrowed. It was to the advantage of the municipality that the penalty remain, he said, and he felt it was more of an encouragement than a penalty and a provision to avoid involved financial situations.

The suggestion that the heavy penalty of fifteen per cent be abolished came to the council from outside sources with the urge that the council's representative support such change at the meeting of B. C. Municipalities at Vernon. Ultimately, when Councillor Neild had been won over to the viewpoint of the majority of the council, the matter was dropped, with Councillor Cox still protesting.

WHO WILL PAY?

The council learned last night that the cost of installing a fire hydrant on Victoria View Road for the protection of the Imperial Oil Company's yards there would cost over $3,000. Victoria, where the city will be installed such a hydrant and suggested Esquimalt pay the bill.

Councillor Pomeroy said that Esquimalt was entirely in the hands of the Esquimalt waterworks, which, in turn belonged now to Victoria. It was all very well, he said, for them to pick and choose where they place their hydrants, but it was to their own advantage and to protect themselves that should be placed as desired. In case of a fire, Victoria's waterfront would be threatened by the burning oil on the water's surface, said Councillor Pomeroy. Councillor Neild suggested that the fire marshal be asked for an opinion in the matter.

This thing was pressing, said Councillor Anderson, for fires had several times threatened the Imperial Oil Company property. Councillor Neild suggested that the whole matter be laid before the Victoria City Council. Councillor Anderson's motion carried. The city will be approached, although the Esquimalt Waterworks and the water commissioner have definitely refused assistance.

Although Esquimalt has made provision in its estimates for half the cost of painting the George Bridge, Saanich has never repaid the council's suggestion that this work be undertaken. The council authorized the engineer, H. P. Bourne, to write again to Saanich and at the same time suggest the erection of a sign of warning on the George Bridge telling the public that diving from that structure was prohibited.

Reeve Matheson was appointed Esquimalt's delegate to the convention of B.C. Municipalities to be held at Vernon, August 22-24-25. He will carry Esquimalt's resolutions to this gathering. The council has approved considerable data for presentation on the occasion of this convention.

THESE WOMEN

By MALCOLM DUART

(Copyrighted)

The names and situations in this story are fictitious.

The blond girl ran down the steps and threw her arms about Morton. "Don't crab the party!" she begged. He shook himself loose. "Quit it," he protested.

The girl ran up the steps, and blew a kiss to him as she reached the upper hall.

"What did you do with the boys?" he asked Audrey.

"Gave them some breakfast, and turned them loose," she said. Dimpling, she added: "They didn't say a word the whole time they were here!"

She was wearing his golf jacket and sweater, with the balloon-like knickerbockers doubled about her waist and fastened with a safety pin. Morton and Nona walked down the stairs, Audrey following.

"The girls are more fun!" she said. "They're only seventeen or eighteen, you know. The oldest of them is twenty. And they've almost taken the roof off!"

Nona was looking at Morton, mischievously. "Let's join in!" she proposed.

He raised his eyebrows. "Oh, you're always so correct," she went on. "It won't hurt you. You put on one of the girl's dresses."

"Hanged if I do!" he exclaimed, heartily.

At this moment there was renewed disturbance upstairs, and the girls, shrieking tumbled down the steps. They fell upon Morton, where he stood in the hallway, and seized him in strong young arms.

"Hold him—hold him!" they cried, as he tried to break away.

Throwing themselves on the floor, two of them took him by the legs, and four more held to his arms. Seeing himself overpowered, he was quiet.

The girl in the dancing costume bore a lipstick, and with this hastily she laid a coat of brilliant crimson on the end of his nose. She took an eyebrow pencil, passed to her by another girl, and drew a fantastic line along his eyebrows, extending them upward to his temples. Then she drew, sketchily, the black semblance of a mustache on his upper lip.

"Look! Look!" she cried delightedly.

Audrey and Nona, standing to one side, refused his mute plea for help, and laughed at him as the decoration of his face proceeded.

When at last they let him loose, he strode to the mirror.

"Good Lord!" was his only comment.

"He looks like a gambler—a gambler in a show!" cried Audrey gasping for breath. "Oh, daddy, you're so funny!"

He shrugged his shoulders. Fishing in his pocket, he drew forth a cigarette case, and taking one of the little white rolls, lit it.

"All right—what do I do now?" he inquired.

"Come on," shrieked the little blond. "We're going out in the street!"

"We are not!" he countered firmly. "That's where I drew the line."

She had him by the coat sleeve, but picking her up, his hands beneath her arms, he sat her down in a chair.

"We can't go out," Audrey said. "But we can have just as much fun in here. Come on, Nona—you dress up."

The older girl hesitated, looking at Morton.

"Not now," she said. "I'm a little tired."

The girls, turning their minds to further enterprises, trooped into the kitchen, where presently sounded the clatter of kitchenware. Audrey followed them, and Nona dropped into a chair.

"I'd like to dress up, but—"

"But what?" said Morton.

"I don't want to look funny before you," she confessed.

He motioned toward his face.

"But how about me? I'm ridiculous enough."

"No," she told him. "Somehow, you don't look funny. Just—just bald!"

"Sort of dissipated, and evil-minded, eh?" he commented, returning to his seat.

"A little like Satan," she told him.

An increasing clatter sounded from the kitchen, through the dining-room and butler's pantry that intervened. Morton went to investigate. When he returned, he was driving the entire crowd before him.

"They were mixing cocktails," he explained. "and the cook says she'll quit if they come in there again. The kitchen looks as if a cyclone had struck it. You girls—stay out of there!"

He departed again. When he returned, it was with an air of satisfaction.

"I've locked the wine cellar, and put away the gin and bacardi and all the rest of the stuff, and I'll not open up again while those girls are here. Where did they go?"

"Upstairs again," Nona said. "They've decided to rehearse a while, before luncheon."

Morton groaned. "And I suppose they'll go out on the lawn in those one-inch costumes of theirs! I'm going down town."

"You can't," Nona reminded him. "Look at your face."

He inspected himself again in the mirror, and with a sigh, excused himself.

"My rooms are filled up with girls," he said. "I'm going to try to get this stuff off."

He turned into a small lavatory that opened from the hallway. After a long silence, he put his head through the door.

"Nona," he called. "Will you ask Audrey to get me some cold cream?"

Withdrawing, he waited the round white box that Nona brought to him. She stood outside the door.

"What's the matter, Harry," she called.

"This stuff won't come off my nose," he growled, from within. "Look!"

He emerged, and turned to the light so she could get a better view. She covered her mouth with her handkerchief.

The black was gone from his lip and eyebrows, but his nose still bore the rich, carmine that the chorus girls had applied.

"Look at it!" he repeated, ruefully. "I can't go down town this way. I've got to stay a prisoner here, with these wild Indians."

Nona, suffocating for an instant behind her handkerchief, now tilted back her head and cried out with laughter. He joined her though not so heartily.

"Poor Harry!" she sobbed, rocking with merriment.

He walked into the drawing-room and sat down. Nona followed. He roared with delight, but with her voice under control, now.

"It will come off in a day or two," she told him. "I know. I've water-proof lipstick. But don't rub your nose any more. It will swell up."

He touched the offending member lightly, and dropped his hand.

"Well, I don't mind much," he said. "It's really Parrish's misfortune. He'll have to come out here every day now, until my nose gets back its normal color. And I tremble to think what those girls will do to him. He is such a serious young man!"

He went to the telephone, and calling his office, gave brief directions for Parrish to come that afternoon. Luncheon was accomplished, amid difficulties. The girls had not yet donned their evening clothes, delayed by frolics through the bedchambers, and they gravely appeared still clad in Morton's gear. They laughed at his predicament, when he told them about his nose.

Audrey did not laugh, but wore a worried pucker on her brow when she looked at him.

"I don't mind it much," he said. The girls threw bread, and chattered, and ate ravenously. Luncheon over, they retired to put on their rompers.

"We'll work an hour, and then play some more," Audrey told Morton.

When Parrish appeared, he refused to enter the hall until he was assured the girls were upstairs. He followed Morton into his study, and carefully locked the door.

"Their conduct is outrageous," he told Morton. "I wonder you stand for it."

He produced a packet of letters, and handed them to his employer.

Morton glanced over them, one by one, dictating his replies.

There was a babble of feminine voices outside, and Parrish looked up apprehensively. He was reassured by a glance at the locked door. The concert grand piano in the music room, at the rear of the hallway, thundered the stroke of a practiced hand.

"That's Nona playing," said Morton, absently, as he glanced at the next letter in the heap before him. His brows drew together.

"Confound it," he exclaimed. Parrish waited, as the older man continued his reading.

When he was done, Morton stepped to the door, and opened it.

"Audrey!" he called.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Blackberries

Copyright, 1926, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Who wants to come with me?" called Uncle Wiggily one day. The kind old rabbit gentleman hopped out of his hollow stump bungalow and stood on the path, a basket dangling from his paws.

"Where are you going?" asked Jingle, who was one of the forty-seven little bunny children of Uncle Wiggily.

"Are you going after some eggs from Mrs. Cluck-Cluck, the hen lady?" asked Jangle.

"I am going to the fields to gather blackberries, so Nurse Jane Wuzzy may bake a pie," answered Mr. Longears. "Who wants to go blackberrying?"

"I do!" barked Jackie Bow Wow. "I do!" chattered Billie Bustail. "I do!" meowed Tossie Cat.

"Then come along!" invited Uncle Wiggily, and soon he was leading a jolly procession of animal children across the meadow, through the woods and up hill toward a pasture where grew many blackberry bushes.

"Do you shoot blackberries?"

Now I've caught you! the fox snarled.

barked Peetie Bow Wow, one of the punny dog boys.

"Oh, no, of course we don't!" laughed the bunny.

"They have the berries, like cowboys lasso cows in the Wild West shows!" crowed Charlie the rooster boy.

"Oh, they do not!" cried Baby Bunty. "You put salt on their tails, the same as you do when you catch birds!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "You are all wrong. We are going to pick blackberries!"

"Well, anyhow, I could shoot them if I had my papgun!" barked Peetie.

"And I could lasso them if I had a piece of our clothesline," crowed Charlie.

"And I could put salt on their tails, if they had tails; but they haven't!" laughed Baby Bunty, and then Uncle Wiggily hopped along with the children until, all of a sudden, Scooter, a little rabbit boy who hadn't lived very long in the country, asked:

"What color are blackberries?"

"Black, of course!" answered

Jingle. "Aren't they, Daddycums?"

"Of course!" said Mr. Longears. "And now here we are at the blackberry field, so take your baskets and see who will be the first to get one filled."

So the rabbit gentleman began picking the big, shiny blackberries off the bushes, listening, the while, to the merry shouts and laughter of the boy and girl rabbits, dogs, pussy cats, squirrels and mice.

Pretty soon, all of a sudden, when all was peace and happiness, the Fussy Fox thrust his sharp nose out from behind a bush near where Uncle Wiggily stood picking blackberries, and the Fox snarled:

"Now I've caught you!"

"Oh, so you have," sadly answered the rabbit, for the bad chap held him by the paw. The Fox was dragging

Mr. Longears away, when all of a sudden, up popped Peetie Bow Wow with his basket filled.

"Oh, Mr. Fox!" barked Peetie. "Take all my nice blackberries, but let Uncle Wiggily go!" and Peetie held out his basket.

"I'll eat your blackberries, but I won't let Uncle Wiggily go!" snarled the Fox, most meanly. He took a greedy pawful of the black things from Peetie's basket and, stuffing them into his mouth, the Fox chewed hard on them. But a moment later he cried:

"Wowchie! Ow! What's this! Oh, all my teeth are broken! Those aren't blackberries, they are black stones!" and letting go of Uncle Wiggily, away ran the Fox as fast as he could run to find a dentist to mend his broken teeth.

"Why, Peetie! These are black stones," said Uncle Wiggily picking up some that the Fox had spilled.

"Where did you get them?"

"I picked them up near the brook," barked Peetie. "They were round and black and I thought that's how blackberries grow."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny uncle. "Blackberries grow on bushes, but it's a good thing you picked stones, instead, for they made the Fox let me alone. Now I'll show you how to get real berries." And he did, and Nurse Jane made a wonderful pie.

So it all happened for the best, you see, and if the rag doll doesn't eat so much sawdust that it runs out of her ears, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the raspberries.

Historic Coldstreams Band in Canada

(1) Band Grouped Prior to Leaving for Canada.
(2) Lieut. R. G. Evans, Director of Music to the Coldstream Guards.

The band of the famous Coldstream Regiment, the lineal descendant of the "New Model" first Regular Army, which was raised and organized by Oliver Cromwell, are touring Canada this summer under the direction of Lieut. R. G. Evans. The Lord Mayor of Liverpool was on the dock when the band embarked on the Canadian Pacific liner "Montcalm" amid the cheers of thousands of people.

Arriving in Quebec on June 25 the band proceeded on their way West, where they have been filling a number of engagements at the Brandon, Saskatoon and Regina exhibitions, and the Calgary Stampede. Their tour will extend as far as the Pacific Coast, including also visits to Vancouver and Victoria. Returning in the Fall, the band will play at the Toronto Exhibition, and embark for home on the Empress of Scotland on September 15.

The last visit paid to Canada by the Coldstream Guards Band was in 1911, under the direction of Lieut. Col. Mackenzie-Rogan, one of the Regiment's most famous bandmasters, who enlisted as a band boy in 1867 and rose to be Director of Music to the Coldstream Guards and Senior Director of the Brigade of Guards.

When Col. Mackenzie-Rogan took charge of the band its total strength was thirty-four performers, but when he handed it over to his successor, Lieut. Evans, in 1920, the band establishment was sixty-six.

There is evidence that a Coldstream Band existed in 1742. At first its members were civilians, but in 1783 the officers petitioned their Colonel-in-Chief for a band of regular attested musicians and got it. This band included two oboes, four clarinetts, two bassoons, one trumpet, two horns and one serpent. In 1815 when the band had been augmented by the introduction of several more instruments, it was ordered to Paris during the occupation by the allies.

ONTARIO TRAFFIC UP 1,000 PER CENT IN LAST TEN YEARS

Story of Highway Growth Like a Romance, Says Deputy Minister

Police Controlled so as Not to Persecute Motorists Using Roads

S. L. Squire, Deputy Minister of Highways for Ontario and chairman of the executive of the Canadian Good Roads Association, before he left last night for the East told The Times of the advances Ontario is making in the building of good roads and handling the enormous increase in motor traffic.

"The modern road policy which has been in practice in Ontario covers a period of twelve years, during which time there has been spent in the province no less than $200,000,000," Mr. Squire said. "Prior to 1914, all road expenditures were directly under municipal organizations. That year the Liberal Government set aside $1,000,000 which was to be contributed to such counties as would adopt a county system, such contribution to be made on the basis of 25 per cent of the total expenditure."

"Until 1917, but half the counties in the province had availed themselves of this Government assistance. That year and the following, however, saw county organization established in all counties of the province and in 1918 the provincial highway system was established."

CONSTRUCTION INCREASE

"Following 1918, there were three principal road spending bodies. These were the Provincial Government, the counties and the townships. The Provincial Government assuming less than 2,000 miles of the 55,000 miles of the province. The counties assumed approximately 10,000 miles. The rest of the roads, which were considered more as local roads, were under the jurisdiction of the townships.

"In 1923, the peak year of expenditure in the province was $26,000,000. Since that time the expenditure has been approximately $15,000,000 annually."

"What the province has obtained from this expenditure reads like a romance. They have established a system of main highways which will include 1,500 miles of pavement, these roads being constructed of asphalt or other bituminous materials, cement-concrete and tar-macadam highways."

"The longest stretch of this pavement reaches from Windsor to the Quebec border, a distance of 570 miles."

HOW TRAFFIC HAS GROWN

"The use of the roads has increased more than 1,000 per cent during the last ten years and traffic census reveals that the Toronto-Hamilton highway, which in 1914 had a maximum daily traffic of 522 vehicles, reached in 1925, 18,230 vehicles. More than 1,500,000 American cars used Ontario's highways during the last year. The value of this traffic to the province can only be estimated, but never known."

"The sources from which revenue is derived to take care of this large expenditure are: First, municipal contributions; the municipalities contributing 20 per cent of the entire cost of construction and maintenance of main or provincial highways, while the municipalities contribute 50 per cent towards the construction of the county roads and 30 per cent towards the cost of township roads."

Eighty per cent of the cost of the provincial highways is taken care of by the Government, while the Government pay 50 per cent towards the cost of county roads and 30 per cent towards the cost of township roads or the roads of minor municipalities."

GAS TAX PAYS WELL

"The Government of Ontario, as is the practice in B.C., have a gasoline tax and last year obtained from the motorists from motor license fees $5,300,000 and upwards of $2,000,000 from the gas tax. During the present year it is expected that these two sources will produce a provincial revenue in excess of $5,500,000."

"The first motor registration in Ontario was in 1907. That year there were 202 cars. The motor registration in 1925 showed 312,000 motor cars and 34,000 motor trucks, motor trucks having increased in the province from 2,400 in 1914 to 34,000 in 1925."

SAFETY CHIEF OBJECT

"The problem which the highway department is endeavoring to solve is one of safety, for while the construction of the road and the type of material used is important the mode or manner of maintaining is of public interest. It is recognized that after all the safety of the user is the most important factor in highway development. Ontario has adopted a system of danger and direction signs. These symbols are plainly legible and are easily understood by all users of the road. In addition, the highway department have under their direct charge forty-four traffic officers whose business it is to see that the highway traffic act is enforced and to insure the safety of highway users."

"It may be of interest to state that the basis of promotion governing the officers of the department is based upon the small number of accidents occurring on any patrol, rather than upon the number of fines that are collected by an officer. It is quite apparent that safety is placed above the cash collected by any patrol from fines."

HOW MOTOR BUSES ARE ASSESSED

"The motor bus has become a useful means of transportation within Ontario as in British Columbia, and this year there are no less than 280 modern motor buses using the highways of the province. These buses pay for the privilege of using the ordinary license tax and the tax on gasoline, but make a contribution to the Provincial Treasury of one-tenth of a cent per mile based on bus capacity and the bus schedule. For instance, a thirty-passenger bus having a schedule of 100 miles a day would contribute to the Government $1 a day for the privilege of using the highways. The purpose of this charge is on the basis of the Government, turning a road over which the commercial user may operate in competition with other means of transportation."

"It is recognized that highway problems are no longer local, that the problems which occur in any province or state in connection with the construction, maintenance and control of the road is the problem of every other province or state, the difference being one of traffic problem and not one of geographical location."

ANOTHER ROUND-THE-WORLD AVIATOR?

Cormorant

A Cormorant, said to be of the Japanese variety, recently appeared at Conneaut Lake, Crawford County, Pa. This is the variety of bird the Japanese train to catch fish, preventing their swallowing the fish by means of a ring on the bird's neck. The cormorant is such a voracious eater his name is a synonym for "gormand." When swimming under water in pursuit of fish, he uses his wings as a fish does its fins. But how did the bird get to Conneaut Lake?
